Six Eggs in a Box

LITTLE READERS

Mia and Mom are in the kitchen.
The sun shines through the window.
It is time for breakfast.

Mom has a box of eggs.
She puts it on the table.
"Look inside," she says.

Mia opens the little box.
She sees smooth white eggs.
They sit in a neat row.

There are six eggs in the box.
Mia looks at them carefully.
"They are so round!" she says.

"Can you count them?" asks Mom.

Mia points to the first egg.

She is ready to count.

"One," says Mia.

She points to the first egg.

Then she points to the next.

"Two, three, four," says Mia.

She points to each egg.

Mom watches her count.

"Five, six!" says Mia.

She holds up six fingers.

"There are six eggs!"

Mom closes the egg box.

She does it very gently.

The eggs stay safe inside.

Mia holds the box carefully.

She uses both hands.

Mom stays close to her.

Max watches from the floor.
He sits very quietly.
His tail moves a little.

Mia carries the box slowly.
She takes small steps.
"I have it," she says.

Mia sets the box on the table.

She puts it down gently.

Mom gives her a smile.

"You carried it carefully," says Mom. Mia smiles back.
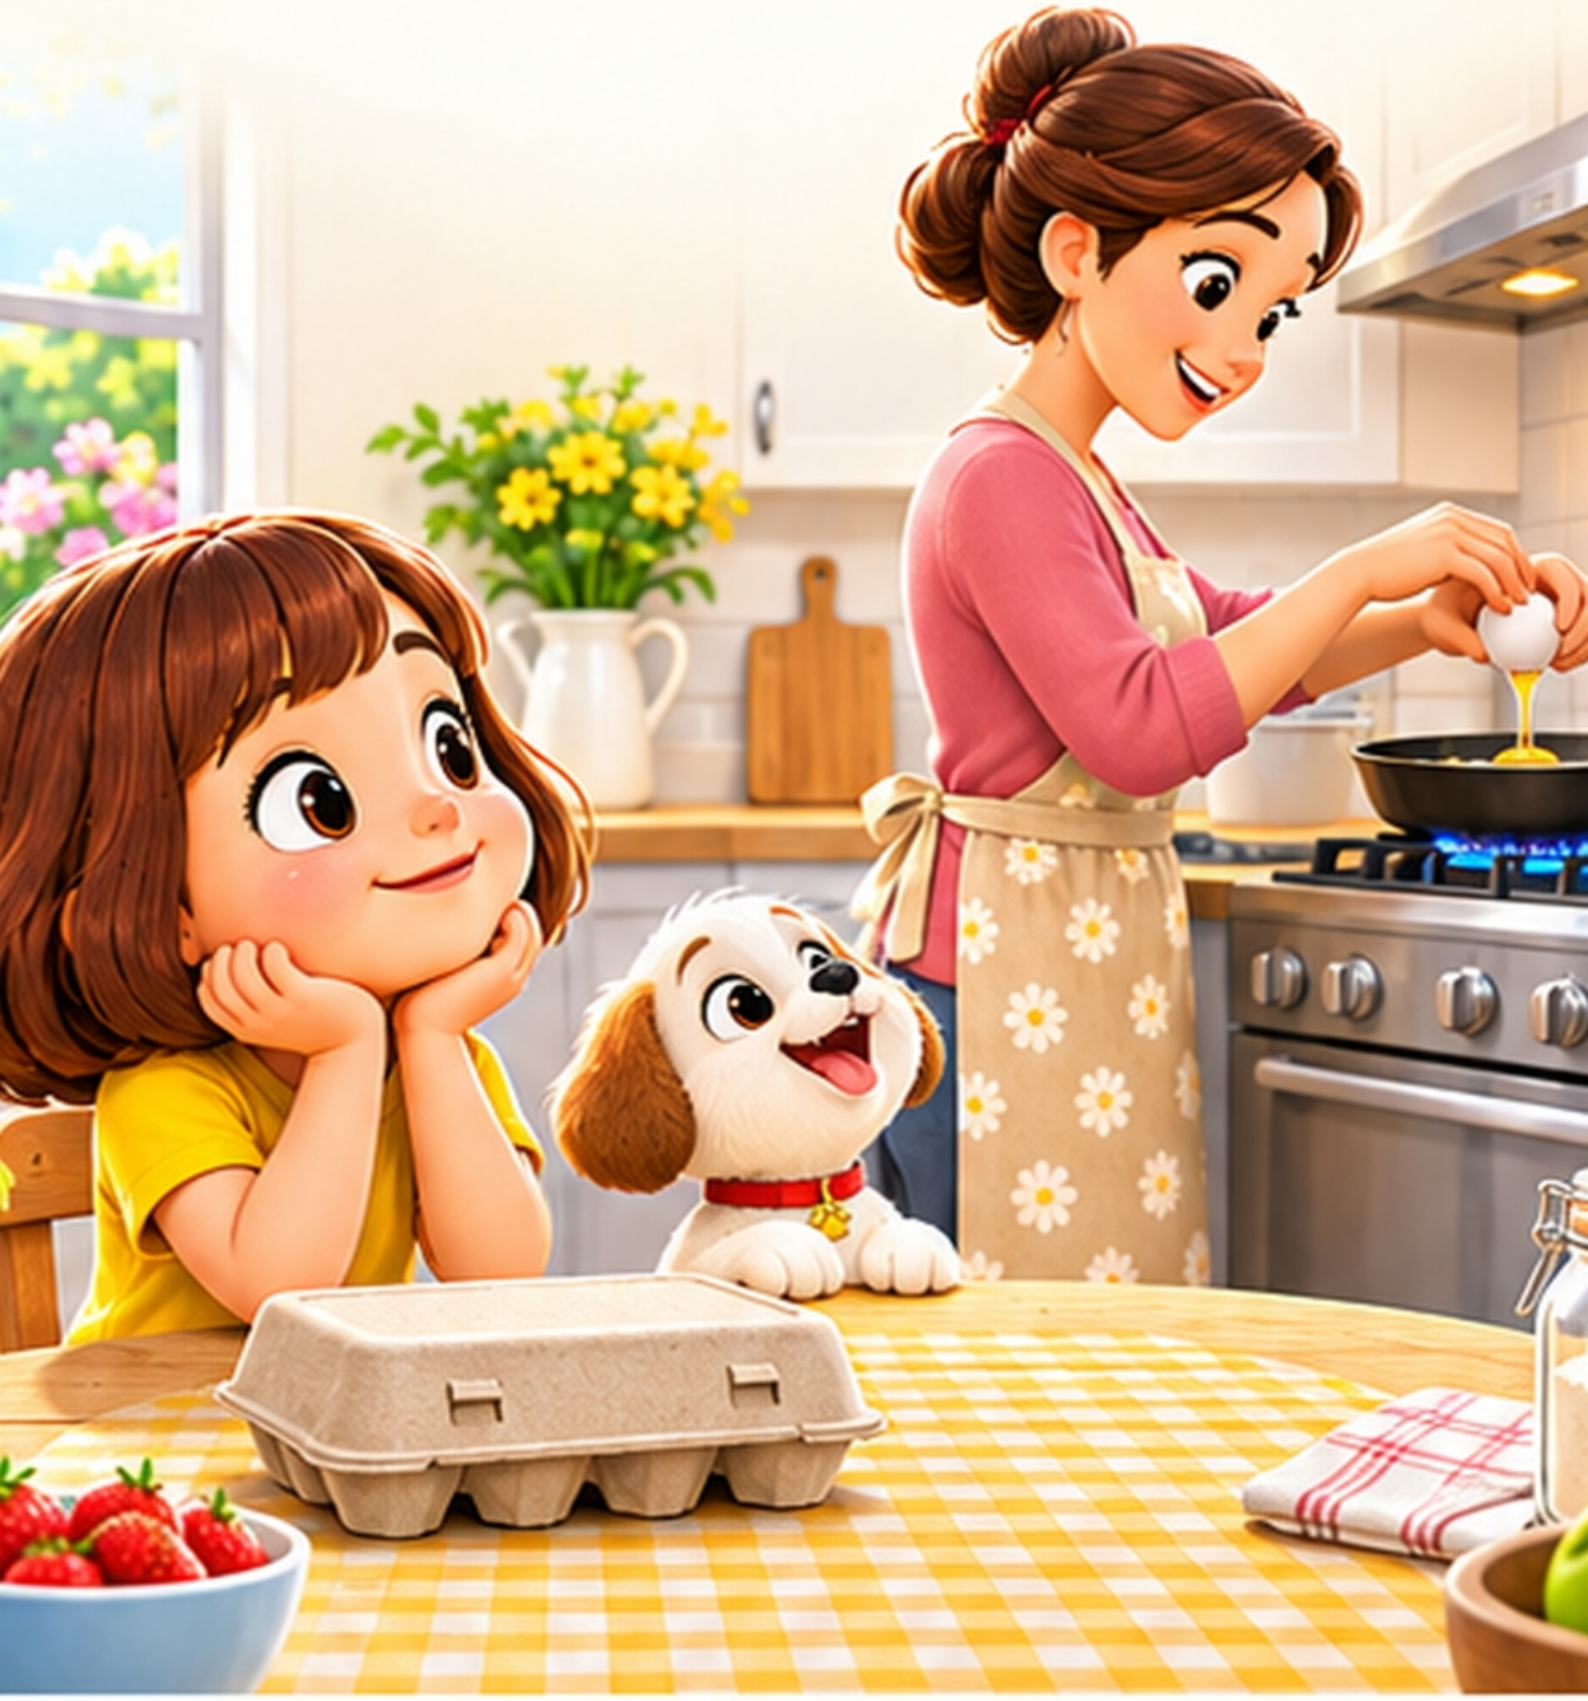
"May I open it?" she asks.



Mia opens the box again.

She lifts the lid slowly.

The eggs are in their places.

All six eggs are safe.

"One, two, three, four,

five, six!" counts Mia.

Mom takes one egg.

She holds it carefully.

"Let us make breakfast," she says.

Mom cracks the egg into a bowl.

Mia watches her from nearby.

The egg goes into the bowl.

Mia looks into the bowl.
"There is one egg," she says.
Mom reaches for another.

The first egg is in the bowl.
Some eggs are still in the box.
Mia looks at them.

Mom takes a second egg.
She holds it over the bowl.
Mia watches carefully.

Mom cracks the second egg.

It goes into the bowl, too.

"Now there are two," says Mia.

Mia counts the eggs in the box.
"One, two, three, four!"
she says.

Four eggs are still in the box.

Two eggs are in the bowl.

"Good counting," says Mom.

Mom adds milk to the bowl.

She pours a little at a time.

Mia is ready to help.

Mia stirs with a spoon.
She moves it round and round.
The eggs and milk mix together.

Max watches from his spot.
He sits away from the table.
Mia smiles at him.

Mom and Mia smile together.
"We make a good team," says Mom.

Mom cooks the food.

Mia watches from a safe spot.

The kitchen smells good.

Mia sets the table.

She puts out plates and cups.

"Breakfast is almost ready!"

Mom brings the food.

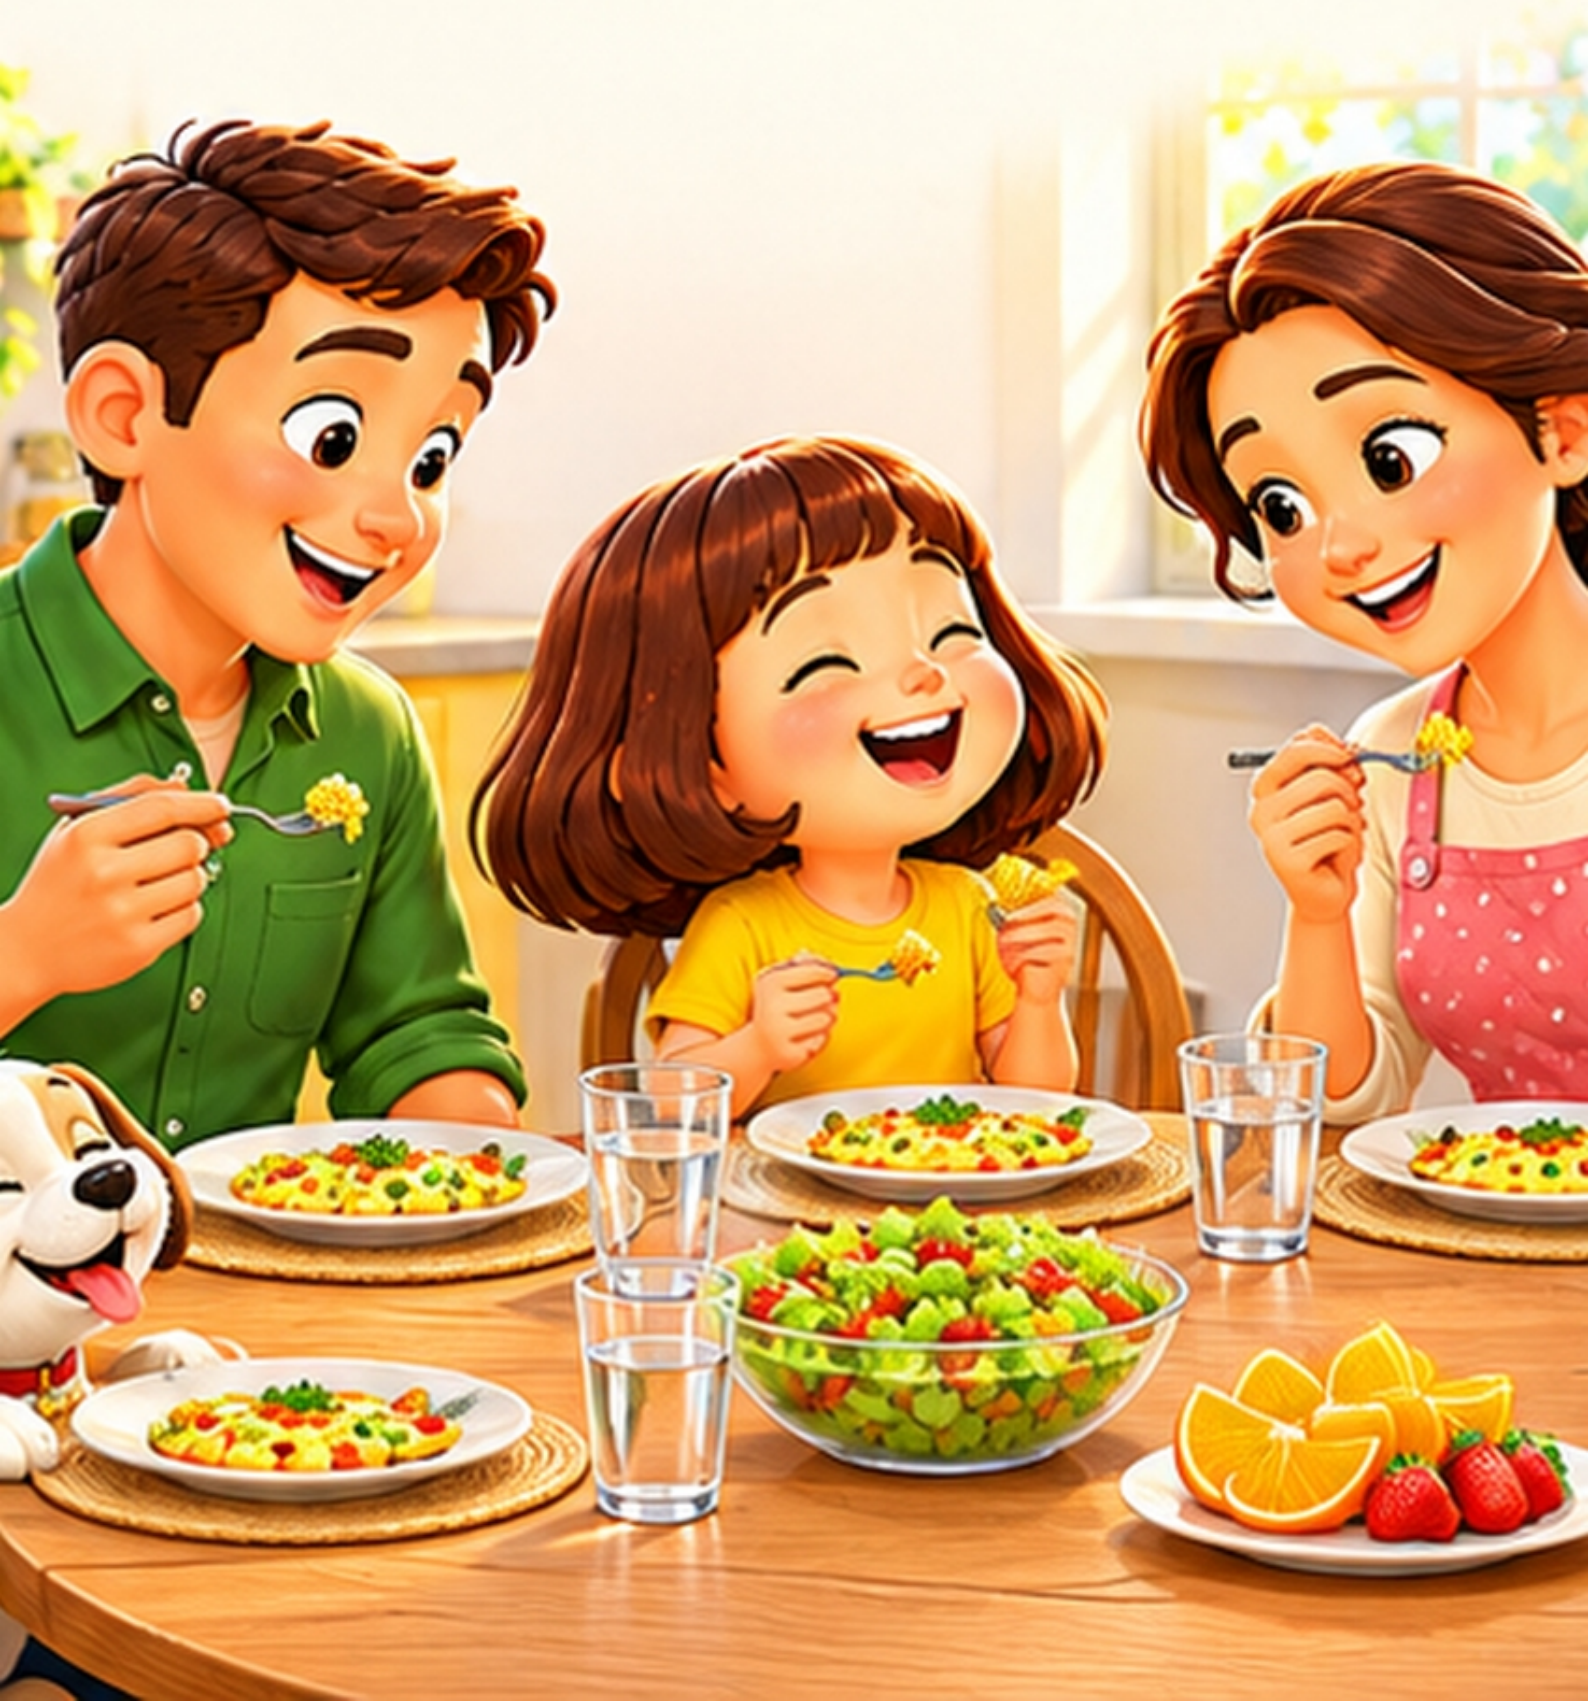
She puts it on the table.

Mia takes her seat.

The family sits together.

The plates are ready.

Max rests nearby.



Mia looks at the egg box.
"There are four eggs left,"
she says.

Mom closes the box gently.
The four eggs stay inside.
They will use them another day.

Mom puts the box away.

She places it in the refrigerator.

The eggs stay cool.

Mia closes the door.

"The eggs are safe," she says.

Mom smiles at her.

The family eats breakfast.

Mia takes a little bite.

"It tastes good!" she says.

Max rests by the table.
He has his own food and water.
He looks happy and calm.

"Thank you, Mom," says Mia.

"I liked helping you."

"Thank you, too," says Mom.

The family smiles together.

They counted and cooked.
